Excellence is not a goal.
It is the starting point.

When grinding enthusiasts, technology partners and industry experts gather in Trossingen from April 21 to 23, 2026, the focus is on far more than product technology alone. Guided by the principle of Formula Beyond, Adelbert Haas opens the doors to GrindDate 2026, inviting visitors to explore what emerges when boundaries are not accepted—but deliberately left behind.

Formula Beyond is not a buzzword. It is a clear mindset. Excellence is not a goal to be reached and checked off. Excellence is an attitude renewed every single day. This mindset shapes the way Adelbert Haas thinks, develops and collaborates.

Innovation begins where others are satisfied. For Adelbert Haas, progress does not mean refining the familiar, but having the courage to fundamentally question established solutions. High-tech grinding machines are not the result of compromise, but of a clear ambition to set new benchmarks. Where precision alone is no longer enough, mechanics, software and process expertise merge into integrated, intelligent systems.

The future of grinding is software-defined. Those who want to shape this future must be able to master it themselves. That is why software development at Adelbert Haas is not a supplementary tool, but a core part of its engineering DNA. It enables highly automated, stable and flexible processes—creating space for new technological demands.

Full automation is not an end in itself. It is the logical consequence of an uncompromising commitment to quality, process reliability and reproducibility. Machines take over what must be executed reliably, repeatedly and with precision. People focus on what makes the decisive difference: development, optimization and innovation.

True breakthroughs, however, never happen in isolation. Adelbert Haas works closely with selected partner companies that share the same standards for technological depth and quality. Partnerships on equal footing defined by trust, openness and the willingness to challenge one another—with the shared goal of creating holistic system solutions.

This spirit is reflected in the current generation of machines most notably in the Multigrind® Radical. Its name says it all: clear, consistent and driven by the conscious intent to push existing boundaries—technologically and in the way we think.

Beyond defines how Adelbert Haas thinks, develops and collaborates today and in the future. To experience this mindset firsthand, visit GrindDate 2026, April 21-23.
